

Deadline for Conference Is Discussed

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP) — Western officials were talking today of setting a time limit for ending the Big Four foreign ministers conference. It is a point of decision, East-West negotiations over the future of Berlin appeared stalled at the end of four weeks of sparring — both out in the open and in private sessions.

Western diplomats believe Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko probably will make his rock bottom offer for a Berlin agreement and a summit meeting in the last 48 hours of the conference.

They think Gromyko is awaiting new instructions direct from Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Gromyko said he did not plan to leave Geneva this weekend but speculation continued in the Western camp that he might fly to Moscow to consult with Khrushchev personally.

The four ministers arranged a secret session at the residence of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Hunter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Lloyd were expected to keep pressing for a Soviet guarantee of free access to West Berlin.

Western officials said privately the three Allied ministers hold slight hopes of any immediate progress for resolving this and related Berlin issues.

They feel Gromyko cannot give a final answer to their insistence the Soviets remove threats to West Berlin until he gets further high policy decisions from the Kremlin.

The three Western foreign ministers agreed among themselves before the outbreak of the conference they would wear down Gromyko at his own witting game.

The semipublic session at the Palace of Nations Friday brought only a fresh round of argument, the old positions so far as Berlin is concerned.

Among Denver's Attractions Are the Rockies and Old-Time Melodrama in a Downtown Hotel

Editor's Note: This is the 27th in a series of suggested highway tour maps which the Hope Star is publishing weekly. This is excellent material to cut out and paste up in a scrapbook for future reference when planning your vacation trip.

(By EDWARD COLLIER)

Denver is fun to visit at any time of year. Especially before or after the bustle of summer, the Mile High City's spirit and charm show to real advantage. Denver has become a Western hub for winter recreation and sports — the place to start any number of short or long Magic Circle trips.

The thing that will impress you the most, whether it is your first visit or a return trip, is the clearness of the air, the distances you can see and the backdrop of the snowcapped peaks west of the city. And, of course, there is the perpetual brilliant sunshine, on an amazing number of winter days, the temperature hits near the 60 mark.

Wide-Scree Vistas

The best way to visualize Denver, which sprawls over a tremendous area, is a visit to the top of the Daniels and Fisher Store Tower, a copy of the Campanile of St. Mark's in Venice. Here you can get a magnificent wide-screen picture of nearly 200 miles of the Rocky Mountain Range.

You also will be impressed with the mushrooming skyscrapers — there seems to be one or more in constant progress.

There are many spots to visit any places to dine that are unique to Denver. One of my favorites is the Windsor Hotel, once the leading hostelry of the fabulous mining era, and now a historic landmark. Every night except Monday, a three-act melodrama is played in the Baby Doe ballroom of the hotel. The audience hisses, the villain and cheers the hero with abandon. Also downtown is the Brown Palace Hotel, known around the world for its eye-catching, eight-story ballustrated lobby. And there always is Zeit's Buckhorn Restaurant (steaks) with its every inch of wall space crowded with big-game trophies from the days of Buffalo Bill.

Beautiful Civic Center

Your Magic Circle tour of the city can start at Civic Center, dominated by the Colorado State Capitol with its gold-leaf dome, and flanked by the State Historical Museum, Denver's new Public Library, the Art Museum with its magnificent Mues Collection, the Children's Museum and the City and County Building. One block west of Civic Center is the home of the U. S. Mint. Tours are available for all over eight years of age (Monday through Friday), but you must call or write for advance reservations (P. S. They frown on taking samples home!).

The parks, lakes and play areas are many and large, but a "must" is City Park. Here is the Museum of Natural History and Botanical Gardens, but your family magnet probably will be the Zoo. Newest addition is a sloth who prefers to cling to the ceiling of the fine tropical birdhouse. Other favorites are the kangaroo, talking crow, colorful mangrove ducks and the monkey house. There also is a children's Ranch Zoo.

Magic Skiing Circles

You can plan many different Magic Circle skiing trips out of Denver through late spring to Colorado's 33 developed areas. The state claims a staggering "10,000 square miles of powder snow and sun." There are excellent all-weather highways and around-the-clock maintenance on the 21 major mountain passes.

Woman Has Change in Kidnap Story

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — A wealthy woman race horse owner has changed her story somewhat about a cab driver getting fresh and trying to kidnap her. The cab driver voluntarily went to police and indignantly denied her account.

Halina Braunstein, owner of Royal Orbit, flew in from Los Angeles Wednesday night to watch her crack 3-year-old run in Belmont Park's Peter Pan Stakes, to be run Saturday.

The attractive widow said that the cab driver who took her from Idlewild Airport, started talking about sex and asked her to go "out on the town" with him.

She said she leaped from the moving cab and sought aid at a tavern, and the cabbie followed her and demanded $12 in fare.

She gave him $15, she said, and he left without giving her change.

Thursday, contacted by police, Mrs. Braunstein said it wasn't what the driver said but his "manner" that disturbed her. She said she did not intend to file a complaint.

The driver, Harry Selwyn, 41, a Brooklyn father of three, went voluntarily to police.

Selwyn denied any improper remarks, adding his comment about "out on the town" merely was a suggestion that his passenger might like a sightseeing tour at a special rate.

When Mrs. Braunstein left the cab, Selwyn said, she owed $18.60. He said she gave him $15 and told him to keep the change. Police accepted Selwyn's explanation.

War Prisoner Must Leave the U. S.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Kurt Franz Rossmel, escaped prisoner of war who hid from U.S. officials for 14 years, must leave this country or be deported.

A U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service examiner ruled Thursday he is in this country illegally because he has no visa.

He now knows his wartime wife and daughter are still alive and well. But his Dutch wife, Anna, has remarried again and their daughter, Brunhilde, now 17, says she might like to see her real father — but just once.

The World War II German army officer said he walked nonchalantly out the front gate of Camp Butler, N.C., in August, 1945, determined to stay in this country.

Rossmel, now 53, balding and afflicted by arthritis, agreed to voluntarily leave the United States, but vowed he would not go far away.

Rossmel, once a trained linguist with Kommand's Afrika Korps, said he lived quietly, anonymously, in Chicago as "Frank Ellis" for 14 years after his escape.

He surrendered to agents of the FBI here last May 10, after coming to Cincinnati to seek work.

Union Leader Says Policy 'Reasonable'

NEW YORK (AP) — The executive board of the United Steelworkers of America says the policy of the union is to be "flexible and reasonable" in contract negotiations in the basic steel industry.

The union's goal is a "fair, equitable and honorable settlement" before the industry contract expires June 30, the 33-member board declares.

The union's position was stated in a resolution adopted unanimously at a special meeting of the board Thursday.

"There is still time to negotiate a fair settlement," a union statement said.

Negotiations are continuing here, failure to agree on a new contract by the June 30 deadline could almost certainly bring a strike by 500,000 union members.

Industry leaders said privately that the union's emphasis on reasonableness was at odds with its demands, which they called "Astronomic."

R. Conrad Copper chief industry negotiator and executive vice-president of the United States Steel Corp., issued a statement denying that the companies might make a last-minute pay increase offer to prevent a strike.

The industry has been calling for a one-year freeze on wages and employee benefits as a step toward preventing an inflationary spiral.

The union has been demanding a substantial pay increase, which has not been specified, publicly at least. It also seeks a cut in the 40-hour work week and other benefits. Basic pay now averages $3.02 an hour.

Vacation Time Is Here and One Hope Couple Is Planning a Trip to Moscow, Russia

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Vacation time is here, and one couple in Hope is planning a trip to . . . Russia!

From any aspect such a trip is no "snap." That being the case, why are Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis of Klipsch and Associates in Hope making preparations for a journey to Moscow, Russia?

The Davises will represent the Institute of High Fidelity Manufacturers at the American National Exhibition to be held in Moscow this summer. It is part of a cultural exchange between the U. S. A. and the U. S. S. R.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are being sent by the State Department and will represent the U. S. Government Department of Commerce and its Institute of High Fidelity Manufacturers. They will leave the capital city in time to set up the exhibit for showing in July and August in one of the large city parks.

The Russian government will have a group of exhibits in New York City while the Americans have the national exhibition in Moscow. Examples of American life will be shown in an exhibition that will be bigger than the American show at the Brussels World's Fair.

All high enthusiasts and the citizens of Hope, whether or not they understand the delicate precision of good reproduction of sound, will be pleased to learn that Klipsch equipment will be a featured part of the American exhibit.

Large Amount of Money Missing From Truck

By JOE LEWIS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We are exploring every avenue," said the FBI.

"The money can't be missing — but it is," said the police.

"Somebody goofed," said the Bank of America.

Where, oh, where can the missing $112,200 be?

The two deliverymen, charged with the armored truck from which the money vanished Thursday, aren't saying anything except to a lie detector.

Police said they submitted voluntarily to a lie detector test Friday and their account was verified.

Records show deliverymen Louis Weiss and Bob Kitcher loaded cash into their truck from the Bank of America vault Thursday morning.

Then they started on a 64-hour trip — unloading cash at Bank of America branches and other business concerns.

At five of the 17 stops on their route, the vehicle was guarded for periods varying from two to five minutes. But investigators said there isn't the slightest evidence that the truck was robbed at any of these stops.

At the end of the route, when the truck rolled up to the Bank of America's Stauson avenue branch, the money was gone.

The FBI said it couldn't recall such a large sum just vanishing from an armored car. Agents are checking each stop on the route.

If the money was delivered by accident to one of the branch banks, a bank spokesman said, it's "sure" to turn up soon. But if it went by mistake to a business concern, he added, it may take a little longer to find it.

"We're insured and so are the armored truck people," he said. "Actually, it's their worry."

The money — $2, $5, $20, $50 and $100 bills — is insured with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Tragedy Strikes Wisconsin Woman

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Imogene Kleppin, even though she had given birth to a third child only six days ago, couldn't resist rushing out to the street when sirens wailed to a stop near her home. She peered over the shoulder of a fireman. Then she screamed and collapsed.

Her daughter Linda, 2, lay on the pavement beside a truck, still clasped in the arms of her 14-year-old aunt, Mary Ann Chalkin.

Both children were dead.

Mrs. Kleppin's other child, 3-year-old Danny, sprawled over his crushed bicycle on an awful moment, finally wailed in pain. He is in critical condition today.

The three children had been struck by a delivery truck, turning a corner as they started across the street. The driver, Jack H. Brockway, 22, said he was going only 10 miles an hour and saw no one in front of him, but stopped when something bumped under the rear wheels.

The young adults who, by their energy, enthusiasm, knowledge, and wisdom, were greatly responsible for the vast improvement of the American high fidelity exhibit at the Brussels World's Fair, go to Russia for the summer show.

Of course, we are talking about only lived in our town since October, 1958, but who have already won the heartfelt admiration of all who have met them. Mr. Davis is vice president of Klipsch and Associates which has a business office on North Louisiana Street.

Like the late Gordon Dean, who was Atomic Energy Commission Chairman, Don and Carolyn feel that the greatest tragedies in world and personal events stem from misunderstandings. What better solution to this problem than communication whereby ideas and opinions are exchanged?

At this writing final preparations for their trip have almost been completed, but of necessity they have been rather extensive. After all, the Davises will be representing their country in another land where customs, climate, laws, and language are all unfamiliar. What would YOU do if embarking on a similar excursion?

Cancer Group Alerts Against Smoking

BOSTON (AP) — The American Cancer Society today launched an intensified drive to alert physicians and the public to the dangers of cigarette smoking.

The society's directors, meeting in Boston, approved pilot showings of a 17-minute film in selective communities to test the effectiveness of using a movie in presenting the dangers of tobacco.

Dr. Dean Davies of New York, administrator for research on lung cancer for the American Cancer Society, and Dr. Howard C. Taylor, a director-at-large, said more than a score of studies in different parts of the world all showed lung cancer patients to be predominantly cigarette smokers.

In connection with the society's announced drive, the Tobacco Industry Research Committee issued a statement in New York.

"The cancer society has consistently ignored many authoritative scientific reports and opinions that do not support or that tend to refute the society's charges against tobacco."

Water bottles, presumably light ly capped, were found still filled in the cabin of the plane. The crew crash-landed in the desert and started to walk out to civilization, surely they would have taken all available water with them if they had been killed in the landing which caused so little damage to the plane; their remains would be there.

Did the crew all bail out some where else, as the Pentagon thinks is likely? Then how did the plane fly on for hundreds of miles to let down in a soft landing in the desert? And why apparently didn't any of the crew survive?

Ruford L. Moore, Portsmouth, Ohio, father of one of the crewmen, said he received a letter in 1946 from the War Department saying the plane was returning with the bombing mission when it lost radio contact with its base and was presumed down in the Mediterranean. Did the crew bail out over the sea for some reason while the plane flew on safely to the south?

The Pentagon identified the plane from its serial number as released Friday, night, the name of the crewman and his next of kin.

In spite of the passage of time, relatives of all nine crewmen were contacted and asked to supply any information they had been notified by the War Department in 1944 that they loved ones were missing in action.

A year later they were told they had been killed.

For 10 years the plane rested there and was seen by no one. Or if some desert nomad stumbled across it, he told no authority. A few years ago, a team of explorers found it.

The U.S. Air Force sent a plane crew to see the wreck and photograph it from the air. And it is sending experts overseas to examine it more closely.

World War Two Bomber Found In Arid Desert

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Sahara Desert has cast up a mystery as deep and baffling as any recorded in the annals of the seas.

A World War II B24 bomber which had a crew of nine has been found in the waterless waste of Libya, 380 miles south of Benghazi. It was last seen 10 years ago when it took off from a Libyan base for a bombing raid on Naples, Italy.

Officer Shot, Negro Prisoner Blamed

GOULD, Ark. (AP)—A posse tracked down and wounded a Negro man yesterday after he shot a policeman in a struggle while resisting arrest.

The officer, Gould City Marshal Tom Stout, 35, was reported in good condition at a Dumas hospital. He was struck in the shoulder, arm and hand.

Buster Charles, 37, the Negro, was reported in serious condition at the same hospital. State police said he was wounded in an exchange of gunfire with a posse which caught him in a rice field two miles southeast of Gould.

Mayor A. L. Butcher of Gould said Stout went to arrest Charles on creating a disturbance. The Negro attacked the officer, wrestled his pistol away and shot him, Butcher said.

novice of expert. Frequently there are night carnivals with the skiers carrying torches. Skijoring, with a motorized horse or rider pulling the skier along trails and backroads, is exciting. Take your cameras, movie and stills; the opportunities for wonderful shots are unlimited—but be careful of overexposure of either film or yourself—the brilliant reflected sunlight is so strong it can give you a real sun tan.

One interesting Magic Circle trip is north on the new Denver-Boulder Turnpike, then via State 7 into Lyons and State 66 to Estes Park Village, gateway to the eastern entrance to Rocky Mountain National Park. Continue west for 11 miles, over Trail Ridge Road, highest, continuous automobile road in North America, to the Hidden Valley Ski Area. There are trails and runs for beginners and experienced skiers and ice skating on a newly enlarged rink. The National Park Service has built an attractive ski lodge here; they also supervise snow-construction runs for children.

Sweetheart Town. For the return trip, go back to Estes Park Village and take U. S. 34 through the spectacular Big Thompson Canyon and into the town of Loveland, noted in Colorado for its cherry orchards, and rich farming land. To the rest of the nation it is known as "Sweetheart Town"; thousands of Valentines are sent to the Post Office there to be postmarked each year.

A longer but spectacular trip that will let you see Colorado at its winter best takes you west out of Denver and to the scenic Lariat Trail road up Lookout Mountain to Buffalo Bill Cody's grave and the museum containing authentic relics of this greatest legendary man and the Indians of his day. Stay on State 68 until it hits 40 in this sector, which is part of Denver's Mountain Park System; you can see and photograph (from the other side of the fence) a herd of 20 buffalo.

Continue on to Berthoud Pass, one of the major skiing centers, where beginners and intermediate skiers are most welcome. After you have tried this course, stay on the same highway for Winter Park, the next major ski area. Final objective is across Rabbit Ears Pass (still U. S. 340) to Steamboat Springs. Its avid boosters call it "Ski Town U. S. A." It was a pioneer in developing Colorado as a national winter sports mecca. In addition to the thrilling 300-foot Graham Jump, three new shorter jumps have been added. There is night skiing on well-lighted runs. Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays.

Beauty Spot. There is still another Magic Circle trip out of Denver, this time to the Colorado Springs area. It can be new experience, even for many Coloradans, by taking U. S. 285 west from the capital city to Shafter Crossing, where you turn left (and south) on State 126. For seven miles you drive through a completely unheralded but to me—one of the most beautiful and unpublicized spots in the Rockies, the runs along the floor of a canyon whose red stone walls almost close together at one point.

Continuing to Woodland Park, and on U. S. 24 to Manitou Springs, or sample or a jug of its mineral water to drink. Nearby is the Cave of the Winds with its miles of passageways containing stalactite, stalagmite, crystal and calcite formations.

Next stop is the touted tourist attraction—the Garden of the Gods. This great natural park, with its remarkable and vivid red sandstone formations, is even more awesome and photogenic when it is mantled by snow. From here go on into downtown Colorado Springs, one of the nation's most attractive cities, and south to Broadmoor, the famed resort. From here you can drive up to the Shrine of the Sun, a memorial to Will Rogers. Stop off at Cheyenne Mountain Zoo, which offers a fine collection.

On your way back to Denver (U. S. 89 and 87) there is something new to see between Colorado Springs and the little town of Monument: it is being constructed the magnificent new U. S. Air Academy in the shadow of mighty Pikes Peak. First classes are due to begin there this fall. The striking style of architecture makes it certain that the air cadets will have one of the most ultra-modern campuses (17,000 acres) in the country.

Execution Date Rests With Court

LINCOLN, Neb.—The setting of a new execution date for Charles Starkweather, admitted slayer of 11 persons, rests today with the Nebraska State Supreme Court.

The court was to be in session and Attorney General C. S. Beck planned to ask the seven judges to act swiftly in setting the new death date.

The doors of the federal courts slammed shut on Starkweather Thursday when three judges of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals turned down his appeal for a hearing on his request for a writ of habeas corpus.

The federal judges also refused to extend a stay of execution granted Starkweather May 22 so that he might bring his application before the appeals court.

His father, Guy Starkweather, who was instrumental in winning the stay of execution, said he did not know what, if anything, might be attempted next in Charles' behalf.

Starkweather was convicted of first degree murder in one of the slayings he has admitted. His partner on a murder tour in January, 1958, 16-year-old Carol Ann Fugate, is serving a life term for her part in the same slaying.

Summer jewelry takes on a fresh, satiny look with glowing color and glittering crystals. A collar is formed (left) from two necklaces of three strands each. They are done in marbled beads and crystals in a soft mauve pink. A new length (right), somewhere between a dog collar and a choker, is called high-rise. Here, it's done in perfectly fresh, perfectly white fake pearls. Both designs are from Marvella.—By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Slim pants for summer come in many lengths. Shown here are two of the most popular. DOROTHY DIX GRANDMA MUST PLACE LAST IN RACE FOR GIRL'S LOVE

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: A few years ago I married a woman with a child. I too, have a child who lives with us. Between the time of my first wife's death and my remarriage, my daughter was raised by her grandmother who surrendered her with bad grace. My wife is a good mother to both children but she is very unhappy about the way my mother acts. My daughter visits her grandmother quite often, returning with clothing, toys and other gifts. My mother impresses on her that she is being ill-treated and that she should be happier in her grandmother's home. There's always a tussle to bring her home. I hate to hurt my mother by telling her off but my wife is entitled to the child's respect. As it is now my daughter is giving her grandmother a hard time. My wife threatens to leave unless the situation is changed.—L.D.

DEAR L.D.: The first person to consider is your child, the second your wife and I am sorry to say, mother comes in a poor third. Your youngster will be harmed, emotionally by the divided allegiance due you, her stepmother, and her grandmother. This must not be permitted. She belongs with you and, unless her visits to grandma are maintained as pleasant interludes with no undue spilling of lavishing of gifts and no brainwashing, they should be stopped. There's no necessity to tell your mother off, as you put it, but she should be told of the damage she may do her petted darling. Just a little adjustment on her part will make life better for everyone.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My boy friend and I are in our middle forties and have been going steady for several months. He's met my people but I haven't met his family. Isn't this unusual? I should think a fellow who claimed to be proud of his girl would want his parents to know her. Would it be appropriate for my family to ask what his intentions are? He has never mentioned marriage.

little tongue and one you should continue studying, too. It's a nice idea that your sister does use it in her home. You should get English practice at school, church, in extracurricular activities at school and with friends. During the summer you might work in a store or office where you'll meet folks and have more opportunity to try your English and make friends.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I sing in the choir and have my eye on a tenor who isn't very handsome but seems very nice. Should I ask our minister to introduce us? I'm very shy and know it would be better if we were introduced.—Jeanie

DEAR JEANIE: Membership in any group or organization usually constitutes a blanket introduction. Is yours such a large group that members don't get together on a friendly basis? When the boy has a solo, comment on how well it went or how much you enjoyed that particular selection. Here you are, two people under a common sponsorship, interested in the same thing, sharing a talent, so what more could you ask. You may be shy but must you hide behind a hymn book all the time? Give the "hims" a little attention, too.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

UA Picks Entry in Beauty Contest

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The University of Arkansas chapter in the Miss Arkansas Contest will be Suzie Jackson of North Little Rock.

Miss Jackson was named yesterday after the reigning Miss Arkansas, Mary Lynn Schwarz, of Little Rock, decided not to enter the pageant in Hot Springs because of other plans for the summer.

Miss Schwarz was first alternate and Miss Jackson second alternate in the recent Miss University pageant won by Peggy Sue Limbaugh of Pocatello, Idaho. Miss Limbaugh gave up the title when she married Bill Gailwell of Jonesboro.

It was reported yesterday that Miss Jackson had been named Miss University's first, but Miss Schwarz keeps that title.

Boys Take Up Imaginary Bill on Integration

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An imaginary bill designed to solve the Little Rock integration dispute was presented to the Boys' State General Assembly today.

The proposal, which will be voted on at a session later today, calls for operating Central High School on an integrated basis and opening Hall High School as a segregated institution.

Sponsors of the mythical bill were Mike Vinson of Jonesboro, John Thompson of Jacksonville and Tommy Coyne of Kansas. A spokesman asked if the measure was based on a suggestion along the same lines made by Gov. Orval E. Faubus in his appearance at Boys' State yesterday.

The boys replied they had been trying to think of a solution to the integration deadlock and considered the governor had given them the idea.

Another bill presented to the mock General Assembly would prohibit federal troops or federal personnel being stationed on public property of the state of Arkansas, except with the express consent of the governor.

This bill would give the governor authority to call out state

Matter of FACT

When she was 15, the charming Austrian princess, Marie Antoinette, was married to Louis, heir to the throne of France. Four years later, he assumed the throne as Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette was crowned with him. During the French Revolution, she became to the people a symbol of the hardships which thoughtless rulers had imposed upon them. In 1793, at the age of 38, Marie was tried, condemned and died on the guillotine.

More Firms Are Sharing Their Wealth

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The rebound in profits is taking on today a corporate share-the-wealth aspect. Many companies are sharing more of the corporate earnings with the stockholders. Dividend payments are climbing toward a new annual record.

May was a particularly bright month—in contrast to a year ago when many companies were omitting or cutting dividends. Only one fifth as many are doing that this year as last. And more than twice as many are raising them. Gains now top losses by six to one.

The majority are hewing to the old dividend line, however. And the split in corporate thinking on pay-out ratios continues.

Many companies retain large percentages of their earnings to finance future growth. Others are liberal payers—some even holding to the usual dividend rate on off years when earnings don't cover them.

The New York Stock Exchange magazine, The Exchange, notes today that the range last year in a sampling of its listed companies ran from a dividend payment of 10.3 per cent of earnings by Polaris to 15.4 per cent by United Fruit.

The over-all figures this year tell a pleasant story. The Department of Commerce reports that in the first three months of the year cash dividend totals were running at the annual rate of 15.7 billion dollars. This was a gain of 700 million dollars over the first three months of 1958, and an increase of 200 million dollars over all of 1958.

There are more shares to pay dividends on this year. Stock splits have picked up of late. Last year there were only 17 among companies listed on the big board, the lowest number in the last 10 years.

Companies were more liberal with stock dividends. The listed firms paid out 135 of these last year. But this was a drop from 164 the previous year, and from the record of 183 in 1956.

The strong upsurge in profits, and to a lesser degree the rise in dividends, are being used by labor as an argument for raising wages.

But stock exchange economists look at the impact on industry and trade from another angle.

It is estimated that roughly 10 million individuals, as well as many companies and trust funds, own stocks. The 124 billion dollars in dividends will add buying power to these individuals and to many large and small firms.

Man Who Shot a Officer Gives Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A wounded Negro, wanted for shooting a Little Rock policeman, gave himself up to police last night.

Police Lt. Paul R. Terrell identified the man as Curtis L. Hardee, 37.

Officer T. W. Benight was shot in the leg when he and another policeman stopped a car carrying three Negroes early Tuesday for a routine check.

Terrell quoted Hardee as saying he had taken part in a burglary of the North Hills Country Club at Sylvan Hills and began firing when the officers stopped the car because "I was scared." Hardee said the bullet that hit him—presumably from Benight's pistol—knocked him down. He said he lay throughout the night in high grass in the ditch where he fell.

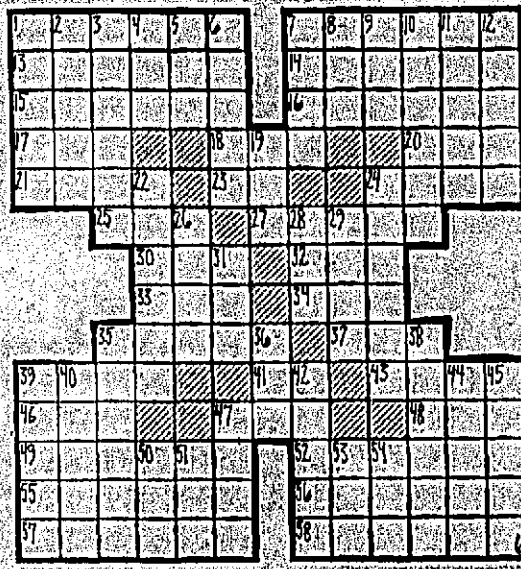

Hardee was hospitalized and an open charge filed against him. Benight's wound was not serious.

The other two Negroes in the car with Hardee, Fred Mowbray and Milton Thomas, were apprehended.

Gelatin is not and cannot be prepared from such proteins as horns or hoofs, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

OUR FUTURE

This is a day of congratulations... a time for the rewarding of those who deserve it. They have finished a job. It is also their Commencement... young graduates must survey their individual and personal futures. It is beginning time for each. Unless they have learned well to do their duty instead of demanding their rights... unless they are qualified to take prosperity without pride, and adversity without anguish—they are unprepared for the future God has for them. This is a glad time, but it is also a most frightful, serious occasion. Eternal vigilance is the demand made by the world on those reaching this commencement hour. Today the pattern is formed, the die is cast. May every graduate from something-to-something in America, remember the words of St. Paul, who said: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any praise, think on these things. Those things which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do; and the God of peace shall be with you," through Your Future.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.
